2.30 P.M.

Fifty-ninth Year

Class Ode, 1919

THE DAWN

Though foothills we have left behind,
Veiled in the mists of yesterday;
Against the sky line's rosy tint
Loom Wisdom's peaks of mystery.
O Alma Mater, thy sure hand
Hath blazed the trail we carry on,
And led us through the darkest night
Until the dawn, until the dawn.

Thy name is writ on Memory's page;
We'll ne'er forget the rugged trail.
Thy guides who stood with hands outstretched,
Lest we should fail, lest we should fail,
'Mid storm and sunshine helped us on
O'er winding paths, through shadows gray,
Until we viewed the cherished goal,
They showed the way, they showed the way.

To-day united as of yore;
To-morrow each fares forth alone.
The unborn years can but reveal
Life's battles lost, life's battles won.
"O Mizpah," wandering night winds call;
Our hearts respond unto the strain,
Some day within this same beloved hall
We'll meet again, we'll meet again.
